What About The Proposed Charter?

(From time to time this column will carry letters from executive officers in other cities where charters similar to the proposed document are in force. An expression may be gained in this manner on how similar charters are working in other places.)

The charge has been made that Kingston's form of government is out of date and needs modernizing. Can you tell me what other cities have aldermen elected at large instead of from wards, and how many?

The Municipal Year Book of 1935, published by the International City Managers Association, gives the form of government and number of aldermen of every city in America. It shows that out of 40 cities having a population over 200,000, only 15 have more aldermen than the city of Kingston, which has a population of only 28,000. The following table tells the story.

City	Population	Aldermen
Detroit, Mich.	1,569,000	9
Pittsburgh, Pa.	670,000	9
San Francisco, Cal.	634,000	11
Akron, O.	256,000	13
Birmingham, Ala.	260,000	9
Cincinnati, O.	451,000	9
Columbus, O.	291,000	9
Dallas, Tex.	260,000	9
Dayton, O.	201,000	9
Denver, Colo.	288,000	9
Houston, Tex.	292,000	9
Indianapolis, Ind.	364,000	9
Jersey City, N. J.	317,000	9
Kansas City, Mo.	400,000	9
Memphis, Tenn.	253,000	9
Newark, N. J.	442,000	9
New Orleans, La.	459,000	9
Oakland, Cal.	234,000	9
Omaha, Neb.	214,000	7
Portland, Ore.	302,000	9
Rochester, N. Y.	323,000	9
St. Paul, Minn.	272,000	9
San Antonio, Tex.	232,000	9
Seattle, Wash.	366,000	9
Louisville, Ky.	308,000	12

This publication lists 312 cities having a population of 30,000 to 200,000. Of these 312 large cities, only 84 have more aldermen than Kingston's 13. Although these 312 cities are larger than Kingston, 285 of them have fewer aldermen, 128 of these cities have nine or less aldermen, most of them elected for a 4-year term. 93 of these larger cities have 5 aldermen or less.

Now we come to the cities less than 30,000 in population. There are 603 American cities from 10,000 to 30,000. Out of these 603 cities, only 47 cities in the United States have more aldermen than has the city of Kingston.

These statistics seem to tell their own story.

British Robot Planes

London, June 25 (AP).—Great Britain today claimed the possession of the first entirely robot airplanes in the world. The air ministry revealed that a number of pilotless machines were in regular use for gunnery practice over land and sea. The airplanes are called the "Queen Bee" type, are operated completely by radio, fly more than 100 miles an hour, and reach an altitude of more than 10,000 feet, but their radius is confined to 10 miles from the operating station. An air ministry official said: "They can be controlled so finely that without anyone aboard they will take off from the land and perform a flight limited only by fuel and the distance from the wireless station. They descend again with complete accuracy. They can also be catapulted from ships at sea and brought down on the water after completing the flight."

One Man Dead

Fort Lauderdale, Fla., June 25 (AP).—The death of one man and destruction of a palatial seat of 75 pleasure craft here were charged today to a blast that swept Pilington's basin near here, causing damage estimated at upwards of $1,000,000. Apparatus was placed to pump water from the half-sunken houseboat seminoles to allow firemen to search for the body of Captain R. C. Abel, 23, of West Palm Beach, who was below deck yesterday when a terrific blast ripped through the 110 footer. From the seminoles, owned by the John S. Phillips estate of Palm Beach, the blaze raced through the close packed fleet in which were boats owned by Gar Wood, America's premier speedboat racer; William "Bill" McCor, Lawrence Schwab, the producer, and others.

Celebrates Centenary

Ludlow, Vt., June 25 (AP).—Black River Academy, where Calvin Coolidge prepared for college, today celebrated its centenary. Thirteen boys and thirteen girls were graduated during commencement exercises in the Ludlow Town Hall. Later, returning alumni took over the celebration. There were few Coolidge anecdotes as the older alumni gathered to swap yarns. The former President was remembered as a quiet, unobtrusive student, not given to school boy pranks or sports. He had few companions or friends, but was always "there" in his dormitory. The school records contain his name, but outside of his mere enrollment as a student there is nothing further about him.

Good Weather Promised

New York, June 25 (AP).—Fair and warm weather for tonight's 15-hour heavyweight bout between Joe Louis and Primo Carnera was promised today by the weather bureau. The temperature probably will hover around 70 degrees, the bureau indicated.

Record Peace-Time Fund For Naval Construction

Washington, June 25 (AP).—President Roosevelt today signed the navy appropriation bill providing a record peace-time fund for naval construction.

The $460,000,000 bill carried among other things an appropriation for starting 24 new warships and for purchasing 555 airplanes. Of the planes, 282 are for replacements and 273 for outright increases in the naval air strength in line with the navy's plan to have 2,000 planes by 1942.

The sum available for construction of new warships was cut from $29,380,000, as asked by the navy department, to $20,690,000. Assurance was given by the department that the reduction would not delay inauguration of construction of the new vessels, the total cost of which was estimated at $197,427,000.

Lehman Leads Vice Drive in New York

New York, June 25 (AP).—A high-powered drive against vice and crime in the nation's metropolis was in prospect today, with Governor Herbert H. Lehman taking the lead.

The governor stepped into the controversy between District Attorney William C. Dodge and the March grand jury over a vice investigation by telling Dodge he wanted a special prosecutor to do the job.

In a letter to the district attorney last night, he outlined a plan that provided, besides the special prosecutor, for the drawing of a special grand jury and the convening of the supreme court for New York county in extraordinary session.

The governor warned Dodge that if he did not accept the plan, he would direct the attorney general to supersede the district attorney.

Lehman, who is a Democrat and a friend of President Roosevelt, submitted the names of four men, all Republicans, from whom the district attorney could choose a vice prosecutor. Dodge is a Tammany Democrat.

The four named by the governor are: Charles Evans Hughes, Jr., son of the chief justice; George Z. Medalle, former United States attorney; Thomas D. Thacher, former U. S. solicitor general, and Charles A. Tuttle, also a former federal attorney.

If none of these men can serve, Lehman said he would furnish additional names.

Dodge had nothing to say after the governor's letter was made public, but Mayor LaGuardia promised cooperation from the police department and said that whoever undertakes the investigation can have the "pick" of the force to aid him.

The governor's action came a few days after he had been given a petition by the March grand jury urging appointment of a special prosecutor.

In his letter to Dodge he said he wanted a "concerted and vigorous drive" to "stamp out the various types of organized crime and vice existing in New York county."

Ready for Action

New York, June 25 (AP).—Martin Conboy, former U. S. district attorney, returned today aboard the Grace liner Santa Barbara with the announcement that he was "ready to go ahead" with the second income tax evasion trial of Arthur "Dutch" Schultz. Fliegenheimer, which is scheduled to begin in Malone, N. Y., July 23, Conboy was sent to Lima, Peru, as a special agent of the Department of Justice to investigate a shipment of four airplanes consigned to Chile for commercial purposes, which, it was charged, were actually to be used as bombers by the Bolivian army against Paraguay. The planes were grounded at Lima after a protest by Paraguay. Conboy was appointed special prosecutor in the Fliegenheimer case after the first trial ended in a disagreement.

PWA "Earmarking"

Washington, June 25 (AP).—President Roosevelt today "earmarked" $219,000,000 of work relief funds for PWA low cost housing projects but each individual project must be approved by Harry L. Hopkins and the President. Making the announcement, Secretary Ickes said he submitted 25 projects in 21 cities, totaling $181,000,000, to the President yesterday and said he expected them to be approved within a few days. They are now being studied by Hopkins' work program administration to determine how they fit in with state work relief plans.

Sanitation Urged

Paris, June 25 (AP).—International stabilization of currencies at approximately their present levels was urged today by Charles Bist, one of France's leading financial authorities, speaking before the International Chamber of Commerce Convention.

Mayor C. J. Heiselman and City Engineer Henry Darrow motored to Albany today to hold a conference with Lester H. Herzog, New York State Public Works Progress Administrator, in regard to starting street construction work in Kingston under the new federal plan which President Roosevelt expects to place three million idle men at work this year. The mayor made arrangements Monday afternoon with Mr. Herzog for the conference today.

Kingston has at least 20 streets ready for the laying of new pavements this summer, and Mayor Heiselman is anxious to start construction work during the summer months as no work can be done in the fall and winter on road building.

At the time the new federal plan was first proposed and each municipality was asked to submit a list of work projects for approval Mayor Heiselman had a list of projects prepared totaling over a million dollars. This list included the elimination of the Broadway crossing, the construction of a junior high school and considerable street work, as well as the improving of the city park system with the erection of new buildings and landscaping of the grounds.

Mayor Heiselman before leaving for Albany today for his conference with Mr. Herzog stated that the purpose of the conference was to start work in Kingston under the new federal plan as quickly as possible.

As stated in The Freeman yesterday Kingston and Ulster county are in the Albany district, and the district manager is Clarence W. Post of Albany. It is planned to appoint a local manager to have charge of Kingston and possibly of the county outside the city as well. There is some question as to whether the manager necessary for the carrying out of the plan will be sent to Albany or whether a local office will be established in Kingston.

There is considerable speculation as to who the local manager will be. Mr. Herzog yesterday stated that none had been appointed as yet. There is also speculation as to whether the personnel of the local ERB will be retained under the new setup.

Poisoned Liquor Search

Rochester, N. Y., June 25 (AP).—Aid of federal authorities was sought today in tracing the source of poisoned liquor blamed for the deaths of three men here over the weekend. The bodies of two of the victims were discovered in a refrigerator of the New York Central Railroad, on a siding on the east bank of the Genesee river. The third man was found dead almost opposite the spot on the west side of the river. Coroner Richard Leonard said autopsies disclosed strong traces of poison alcohol in all the victims. Two of the men were said by police to be Edward W. Hoover, about 45, of Birmingham and George L. Hendrickson, about 46, of Syracuse. They were identified through papers found in their clothing. The third man was identified through fingerprints as Robert Parker of Buffalo.

U. S. Collects Garbage

New Orleans, June 25 (AP).—The United States government assumed charge of garbage collections in New Orleans today as city workers insisted they would strike once more as a result of the Senator Huey P. Long-Mayor T. Semmes Wainwright political fight. Garbage collectors, who quit for a day last Friday and then returned to work when the federal emergency relief administration paid them past-due June wages, planned to meet today to determine their future action. City funds and anticipated revenues have been used up by litigation and counter-litigation. Wainwright charged the strike was fomented by Long and said workers told him Long promised prompt payment of all back wages if Wainwright would resign. "Hell, no, I won't resign," was the mayor's reply.

Sino-Jap Crisis May Flare

Tokyo, June 25 (AP).—The Hsin-king correspondent of Reigo (Japan) News Agency reported tonight that the Sino-Japanese crisis threatens to flare up again with possibilities of Japanese military action, following reports of a Chinese invasion of Manchoukiao. These reports, said to be regarded as reliable by the Japanese headquarters in Hsin-king, said about 500 troops formerly under the command of Gen. Suna Choh-Yuan, former governor of Chahar province, had crossed the frontier from Fushikou Monday and fired on a Manchoukiao frontier patrol. Reigo said that although the Japanese general headquarters held an emergency meeting tonight, with indications that the army was planning vigorous action, officials declined to comment.

London, June 25 (AP).—The second day's sale of J. P. Morgan's collection of miniatures drew another throng to Christie's auction rooms today despite the sweltering heat. The first day of the sale of the $2,000,000 collection realized about $125,000.

Medellin, Colombia, June 25.—Doctors worked today to save the lives of six seriously injured survivors and prevent an increase in the toll of 14 lives taken when two low-flying airplanes locked wings and crashed into flames.

The disaster, one of the worst ever to befall planes in the Americas, plunged the city into grief. Theatre performances were suspended in respect to one of the victims, Carlos Gardel, prominent South American film actor.

The plane of Ernesto Samper, who was known as the "Lindbergh of Colombia", collided yesterday with one owned by the Scadia, a German firm, while taking off from the Medellin airport. Samper was among those killed. His co-pilot, Grant Flynn, of Mt. Kisco, N. Y., was injured.

Physicians said the condition of all the injured was extremely serious. Responsibility for the disaster was not immediately determined.

Gardel, who was expected to return to the United States soon to make pictures for Paramount, had said in a broadcast at Bogota, 200 miles southeast of here, before starting on his last flight.

"I expect to return to Bogota soon, but man proposes and God disposes."

Samper Killed

Ernesto Samper was well known at Roosevelt Field, New York, which he had left only a month ago. His career was something of a story-book legend among aviators.

Scadia, of a wealthy Colombian family of planters, he inherited a fortune once estimated at nearly $1,000,000.

Educated at Phillips Andover Academy at Andover, Mass., he passed several years trading on the stock market, learning to fly in his leisure time, and after 1929, he returned to South America to capitalize upon his hobby of flying.

With the backing of his mother and another brother, he bought a small cabin plane and opened Colombia's first newspaper and mail route. Later he put into operation a passenger air line.

The crash also was reckoned as the greatest accident which ever has befallen Scadia (Sociedad Colombiana Anonima De Transportes Aereos). This air line backed by Colombian capital and operated and flown by Germans, is one of the oldest passenger air lines in the world. For more than 14 years it operated without the loss of a single passenger in a regular, scheduled flight.

Mrs. Grant Flynn, of Mount Kisco, N. Y., wife of the injured co-pilot of Samper's plane, received a cablegram last night from her husband reading: "Still on my feet." It was the first intimation she had received of an accident.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, June 25 (AP).—The position of the Treasury on June 25 was: Receipts, $12,526,677.49; expenditures, $20,979,859.77; balance, $1,942,754.64; 77% customs receipts for the month, $21,290,705.52. Receipts for the fiscal year (since July 1), $3,754,984,745.41; expenditures, $7,153,160,512.01 (including $2,505,910,570.43 of emergency expenditures); excess of expenditures, $3,404,175,766.60; gross debt, $28,640,490,237.53, a decrease of $6,498,278.25 under the previous day; gold assets, $2,102,562,004.29.

Service Is Investigated

New York, June 25 (AP).—National-wide ramifications of an investment service catering mostly to wealthy women were explored further by the New York County grand jury today while a search was pressed for its alleged operator, William F. Peterson, 52. Attorney General John J. Bennett, Jr., estimated nearly $500,000 had been invested on alleged promises of returns as high as 1,500 per cent.

Mr. Craft Says He Purchased Stock and Fixtures and Would Continue Business For the Present Under Merritt Name.

MATTHEWS DENIES

John W. Matthews Denies He Purchased the Stock and Fixtures of the Grocery Store.

Denials were made today by John W. Matthews of the F. B. Matthews Co., and confirmed by R. E. Craft of the R. E. Craft Co., operators of the Great Bull Markets in Kingston and Poughkeepsie, that Mr. Matthews has purchased the stock and fixtures of Harry B. Merritt, large grocery business located at the corner of Washington and Hurley avenues.

Mr. Craft stated that the R. E. Craft Co. had purchased the stock and fixtures and that the building was bought in the name of Barbara Matthews. The business, Mr. Craft said, would be continued under the name of Harry B. Merritt for the present and the policy would remain the same. Possible improvements that might be made were being studied, continued Mr. Craft, and these would be put into effect as soon as feasible. At some future date the name of the business would be changed to Great Bull Market, but no plans were contemplated which would make the change immediate.

There have been constant rumors during the past month that Mr. Merritt would sell his business, but each time these statements were denied by Mr. Merritt, who indicated he would have no announcement before July 1. At the same time indications were that something was afoot, with frequent visits of grocery experts to the Merritt store during business hours, possibly for the purpose of surveying the extent of the business.

Reports are that the negotiation for the sale took place during the latter part of last month, but that the actual transfer would not take place until the first of July.

The Merritt store is one of the largest and most complete in this section of the state with special departments for groceries, meats, dairy products, fruits, vegetables, fish, ice cream and fountain service.

The fixtures of the store were principally the product of the Lorillard Refrigerator Company of this city and include a complete refrigeration plant with an area of 35 by 30 feet, where sub-zero temperatures may be obtained when necessary. All of the products of modern merchandising are a part of the store. The size of the institution may be gained from the fact that as many as 50 or more persons have been employed regularly in its operation.

Forerunner of the present Merritt store was the business of Abram B. Merritt, father of the present owner, who operated a grocery business on an opposite corner from the present location, beginning in 1863. About 20 years ago entered the business under his own name. He developed a "cash and carry" business when that plan of sales was in its infancy and his business grew and prospered with the list of remarkable values he offered. He bought the present location about 13 years ago and has from time to time added to and generally improved the property.

Mr. and Mrs. Merritt's reasons for disposing of the business have been given as the need and desire for an extended vacation following years of strict attention to business. They will make their home in Kingston.

Skeptical Expressions

Washington, June 25 (AP).—Skepticism was expressed today by army and navy experts as to the value of robot airplanes described in a statement by the British air ministry. "We have conducted experiments on robots but aren't doing so now," an army spokesman said. "Robot devices are helpful in blind flying but what good is it to send a pilotless plane up to drop a bomb when there is no way to determine where the target is?"

"There is no experimentation of that sort going on here," a navy aeronautical expert said, adding that some tests along that line had been made in the past.

Veto Expected

Washington, June 25 (AP).—President Roosevelt was expected today by some legislators to veto the utility holding company bill unless the "death sentence" is restored for holding companies deemed by the administration to be unnecessary. The possibility was pondered as the House arranged to debate the measure tomorrow. The Senate voted to abolish "unnecessary" holding companies by 1942 but the mandatory provision was eliminated by the House Interstate Commerce committee.

Nazis Promise Check On Submarine Tactics

London, June 25 (AP).—Sir Charles' Eyre-Monsell, first lord of the admiralty, announced in the house of commons today that Germany had agreed she would never again resort to unrestricted submarine warfare.

Germany also was willing, Sir Bolton announced, to adhere to the rules and regulations regarding submarine warfare set out in part four of the London naval treaty, accepting them for herself irrespective of the attitude of other powers.

Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin turned down a proposal by William Craven-Elles, national conservation member, to call a new world economic conference of industrial nations. Craven-Elles wanted the conference aimed toward an agreement to give all nations a better opportunity for disposing of their production which is in excess of domestic requirements in the world market.

To his point-blank query as to whether it was definitely decided that Ramsay Mac Donald, lord president of the council, should visit the United States, Baldwin commented: "Some rumor to that effect has been circulated, but it is without foundation, as most rumors are."

Regarding another economic conference, the prime minister said: "His majesty's government is most anxious all the time to do everything in its power to stimulate the movement of international trade, but I do not think that at the present juncture this purpose would be served by calling together a conference such as suggested."

Paterson Police Guard Against Jail-Break

Paterson, N. J., June 25 (AP).—Acting on an anonymous tip that the underworld might attempt a hold jail delivery to free the eight captured members of the notorious "Charlie the Jew" gang, police threw the heaviest armed guard in the city's history around headquarters today.

The tip received at headquarters said that there was danger of an effort to rescue the imprisoned men or, failing that, to kill them.

About twenty-five heavily armed police officers were concentrated at headquarters. One detachment, armed with high power rifles and a machine gun, was posted on the roof of the building, and other details were stationed inside and outside of the building. Everyone entering headquarters was carefully scrutinized. The men previously had been in the county jail.

As an additional precaution officers were posted in the cell rooms with the eight convicts, who were kept handcuffed and heavily chained as their questioning continued. Police said they did not expect any trouble but were taking no chances of losing the gang whose capture may point to the solution of the $427,000 Brooklyn armored car holdup and the slaying of Baby Face Vincent Coll.

Acting Detective Captain James Smith said two of the men, Edward Gaffney, 31, and John J. Hughes, 31, had been picked out of the police lineup by two civilian witnesses in the Brooklyn holdup. A third man, Arthur Gaylor, 27, is definitely wanted. Smith said, in connection with the killing of Coll, gang chief.

Prosecutor Arthur C. Dunn announced that ball will be denied the prisoners until they can be indicted under New Jersey's new "public enemy" law. This provides heavy penalties for men with criminal records who are caught carrying guns.

Gaylor was brought closer to the Coll slaying by Sergeant Harry Butte, ballistics expert of the New York police force, who announced that bullets fired from guns taken in Sunday's raid "resembled" bullets from Coll's body.

Butte said he hoped to complete detailed comparison of the bullets today.

John Witkowski, 25, of Hampaty street is in again. He was discharged from the county jail yesterday where he had served a five day sentence for public intoxication, and was again found intoxicated last night on Broadway by the police. This morning Judge Walter H. Gill sentenced Witkowski to 5 days in jail. This is the third time he has been arrested for public intoxication in the month. The dates of the arrest were June 12, 20 and 24.

Chairman Harrison Says Levies Will Be Offered Even Though Current Taxes Lapse at End of Week.

80 PER CENT SURTAX

Proposed Corporation Tax Would Run From 10 to 17½ Per Cent on Sliding Scale.

Washington, June 25 (AP).—Chairman Harrison of the senate finance committee said today a three-way tax program to raise $340,000,000 through inheritance and gift levies, higher taxes on big incomes and a graduated corporation tax would be added to the pending measure to continue $500,000,000 of "nuisance" taxes another year.

After a conference with treasury experts, Harrison said the program would be offered even though it would mean the nuisance and excise taxes might temporarily lapse at the end of this week.

The new inheritance tax Harrison said, would begin on net inheritances of about $300,000, under the tentative program mapped out by the experts.

Surtax rates on incomes of more than $1,000,000, now 59 per cent, would be raised on a graduated scale running from about 60 per cent to about 80 per cent above $10,000,000.

The proposed corporation tax would run from 10 per cent on net profits of $2,000 to 17½ per cent on net profits of $20,000,000 or more. This sliding scale would replace the present flat tax of 13½ on all corporations.

President Roosevelt's recommendations on the corporation tax were 10½ and 16½. Harrison explained that the 17½ per cent amounted to about the proposal of the chief executive.

The finance committee was called by Harrison to meet late this afternoon to consider the new program.

Democrats Revolt

House ways and means committee Democrats threatened today to kick over the traces on the wealth distribution tax program agreed to last night by President Roosevelt and congressional leaders.

With Republicans vigorously protesting against haste, Chairman Harrison called his Senate finance committee to meet late today to map a course of procedure in accordance with the President's decision to seek action at this session.

The house situation was such that Speaker Byrns was called in to talk with the committee Democrats in a secret session this afternoon, urging upon them the idea of extending existing nuisance taxes for 30 to 90 days so the senate could go ahead and draft the new wealth distribution tax schedules.

Unless the nuisance taxes are extended before June 30, the government will lose more than $1,500,000 a day in revenue.

Objection at Source

Several members of the house committee, however, expressed in forceful language their objections to any move to let the senate write the new tax measure.

One leading committee Democrat remarked: "It puts the house in a cheap light of yielding its prerogatives on tax questions which were given to it by the constitution. I would say that whoever advanced that suggestion doesn't think particularly highly of the house and its dignity."

What worried some more than "dignity" was this:

The nuisance tax extension resolution, already adopted by the House and now pending in the Senate, extends a number of levies, among them the 1-cent a gallon tax on gasoline and 3-cent letter postage. There had been strong pressure to have some of these reduced or changed.

House committee members feared that if these taxes were extended only a short period, the Senate then might go to work on a new measure which would repeal or reduce some of the objectionable taxes.

"That's what a committee Democrat, who not only would get credit for taking the

Prof. Matteson's Address

"Strictly speaking, there are in life no beginnings, no endings, but a constant ebb and flow of forces," said Professor Benjamin H. Matteson at the introduction of his interesting and thoughtful address on "A New Deal for Youth." Continuing, he said that the term "Commencement," is a misnomer—"education for these young people does not end tonight; on their way home tonight and 50 years from tonight, they will learn something."

The success of the Class of 1935 said the speaker, was the result not only of their personal efforts, but of physical and social inheritances, of a host of inherited factors.
Professor Matteson found that the New Deal running through the present administration had roots running through 17th century England, through medieval Europe, back as far as at least as Sparta 500 years B. C. "Its future effects," he said, "are just as uncertain as its origin; its influence will persist for generations."

The Choice Is The Thing

"There rests upon each of us," said the speaker, "the imperative need to make wise choices and act vigorously. We would be helpless pawns in the hands of an inexorable fate were we not given the power to choose." He said that it was the function of education to supply the means for this choice, adding that "the degree to which right choices are made is the measure of the worth and the success of the institutions which contribute to these choices." He named these institutions as, in the main, "the Church, the Home, Society and the School."

Professor Matteson showed that institutions, however, are but shadows of men, they are measured by the stature of their leaders. Thus, said he, "A too progressive school would lose touch with society; too politically inclined ministerial distortion; a too lightly entered into marriage destroys the home; a too robust individualism disrupts a democratic state."

Test of a Good School

In the school the speaker found an institution which prepared youth for continued growth, intelligent choice and efficient action. It is but one of the agencies of education. The test of a good school, he said, is found in the measure of the stimulus it gives, in the degree to which it succeeds in prolonging the education of youth.

The speaker discussed at some length the proposition that "in general, no learning takes place outside of interest." He showed that true learning must be followed by satisfaction, either immediate, or in recognition that the learner was being brought a step nearer to the thing desired. "In school," activities of the student must function in the "out of school" activities.
"The New Deal for Youth," said Professor Matteson, "proposes so to aid our boys and girls that they may manifest joy without excitement, show confidence without conceit and feel self-reliance without arrogant independence."

A Continual Process

"Taking up the thought that there must be no break in the educative process, the speaker said, among other things, "Reading, critical thinking, discernment, practiced in school, must function in newspaper reading at the age of 87. School materials must be life materials; the student must reach beyond itself, the student must be led further than to the book shelf, he must be led beyond the school walls. School situations must be, insofar as possible, life situations."

In conclusion Professor Matteson said, "What these graduates are to be they are becoming. Their success is prophetic of future success. As they leave this hall tonight, I suggest that they say over, giving conscious attention to its deep significance, these three words, 'I will continue.'"

CATHOLICS, PROTESTANTS, AT ODDS IN EDINBURGH.

Edinburgh, Scotland, June 25 (AP).—Tense feeling prevailed between Catholics and Protestants today after one of the city's most serious religious riots in many years.

Police patrolled the streets on guard against any recurrence of the turbulent scenes of last night when a crowd estimated at 3,000 hurled bottles and stones at Catholic women and priests attending a eucharistic congress.

The disorders cropped up after Protestants gathered at Waverley market, where the Catholics were holding an open-air mass meeting in connection with the congress.

Men and women, singing hymns, kneeling and booping, converged on the Catholics and stung missiles at automobiles and busses which had brought them to the meeting.

Cries of "Down with the Pope!" were heard. Mounted police made repeated charges into the crowd before order was restored. Ten demonstrators were arrested.

The eucharistic congress, a gathering of Catholics in Scotland, held its first sessions yesterday.

A Year-Round FURNACE
Holland Develops Amazing New Air-Conditioning Principle
Heats, Filters, and Circulates Properly Humidified Air More Efficiently in Winter
Circulates Freshly Filtered Air in Summer

Now you can banish heat, stagnant air from your home forever! Holland engineers have developed a powered air principle that forces conditioned air to every room in the home.

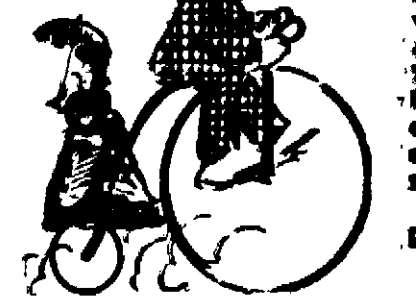

New Principle Explained
In the usual warm air heating plant gravity does the work, and the furnace operates at 400 to 600 degrees. With the Holland Type A Air Conditioner, the furnace operates at 150 to 200 degrees.

The saving in fuel costs is astonishing, and your furnace will last years longer. The powered air unit can be inexpensively added to any warm-air heating system. And it will give your furnace a new lease on life. Already, more than 100,000 units have been sold! It's the biggest idea in home comfort today.

Unique Demonstration Offer
A Holland engineer will call at your home and demonstrate this new principle. He will actually show you how it will work in a new furnace, or with your present warm-air system. You will be amazed to learn how easily you can have this new year-round comfort for your home. Absolutely no obligation in asking for a demonstration. Phone today!

Flying Colonel Dons 'Lab' Gown To Co-Star In Science Drama

His Deft Fingers Now Aid Medicine

Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's skill in mechanics, the same skill that helped make him the world's foremost flying genius, for several years has been devoted to the laboratory. The most recent result is development of mechanical lungs and heart with which Dr. Alexis Carrel, Nobel prize winner, is able to keep alive indefinitely vital organs removed from the body.

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
(Associated Press Science Editor)

Perfection in simplicity of mechanical design is the keynote of success in instruments he has been devising for the Rockefeller Institute here.

The latest of these—a mechanical heart and lungs—its details still a secret, have enabled Dr. Alexis Carrel, Nobel prize winner, to reach a goal sought for more than a century in medicine.

Non-Poisonous Dust May Replace Arsenic

Many gardeners have said they are afraid to use arsenical sprays or dust on vegetables because of the danger of poisoning involved, according to the Ulster County Farm Bureau. A substitute dust is now highly recommended, which is very effective against most vegetable insect pests and yet is non-poisonous. This material consists of a powder made from dextrin and cube root, a tropical plant. The effective material in this powder is rotenone. A good grade of the powder should contain four or five per cent of rotenone.

According to the Geneva Experiment Station the rotenone should be diluted with talc. Lime should not be used because it liberates the effective material too quickly to kill the insects. One part of rotenone should be mixed with nine parts of talc and dusted on the plants. The Farm Bureau will be pleased to give further information on request.

Trenton, N. J., June 25 (AP).—A measure which would deprive the New Jersey state police of authority to supervise investigations of such major crimes as the Lindbergh kidnapping, was before the Assembly today for approval. Passed by the Senate last night, with only the necessary 11 votes, the bill would create a state department of criminal investigation to "investigate all major crimes" in New Jersey, reporting all cases immediately to county prosecutors and offering assistance. The Assembly approved two Senate measures to create a New Jersey division of a tri-state agitation commission, to cooperate with similar groups in New York and Connecticut.

The McEntees Are A Military Family

Colonel and Mrs. Gerard L. McEntee of Saugerties have the proud and a bit unusual distinction of having sons graduate this June from each of the great service academies of the United States. Duane McEntee, who recently finished his four years at West Point, is now spending a two-month furlough at the family home, "Parade Rest," Overhugh Lane, Saugerties. At its expiration he goes to Fort Wadsworth, S. I., to which post he has been assigned. The other son, Gerard L. McEntee, 2d, finished his course at Annapolis this June. He left Sunday, after spending two weeks at home, for San Pedro, Calif., having been assigned to the battleship New York, of the Pacific fleet.

Both young men come honestly by their military spirit. Their father, is a retired colonel of the regular army and the mother is a daughter of the late Colonel Duane, who was colonel of the regiment to which Colonel McEntee was assigned when he was appointed a second lieutenant by the late Theodore Roosevelt. In addition the grandfather, the first Gerard L. McEntee, was a drummer boy in the Civil War, having been a member of the famous old 120th Regiment.

Class Day Observed at Kingston High School By Vivacious Seniors

Monday evening the High School Seniors of 1935 held their Class Day exercises in the auditorium. Promptly at 8 o'clock the entire class marched down the aisles and took their place on the stage, and Donald McCausland, class president, acting as master of ceremonies, opened the festivities with a short introductory speech to the parents and friends who filled the room to capacity.

The first speaker introduced was James Every, class historian. Mr. Every gave a brief resume of the Class of '35, what they had accomplished during their four years at the school. The Class of '35 is proud of their scholastic and athletic accomplishments said Mr. Every. He then spoke in detail of various interesting achievements.

David Pennington, class critic, followed as the next one to have the floor. As Mr. Every told of the good accomplishments of the class, so did Mr. Pennington tell them what was wrong. Here were heard the shortcomings of the class and David did not spare the rod in his sharp criticisms.

Miss Shirley Silverman, however, as class prophet, looked on the brighter side of things and spoke of what will come to pass by the year 1950. She invited the audience to take a trip with her via the route of imagination to 15 years hence. "So now," said Shirley, "I'm looking down on you and broadcasting from my plane piloted so skillfully by our own Orlando Ingalls, who was the first of our class of 1935 to take up this dangerous and thrilling career."

From her advantageous point of observation she discovered that Dan Pelham had created a different type of modernistic painting by accidentally spilling his paints over the canvas. And there's that new Men's Ready to Wear Shoppe owned by Bob Chambers and Jimmy Martin.

The town is once again treated to a New York "Hot Cha" orchestra. Eddie McKinnon, one time Kingstonian and now a big time entertainer, together with his boys, has brought Broadway Rhythm to Kingston. A capacity crowd turned out to witness his famous tap dance.

And what's this?—Lawyer Jack Martin wins notorious law suit for Wendell Scherer.

There were other interesting prophecies before it came time to sign off. So long until 1950!

The next speaker was Donald Finley, who gave an address to the faculty. At the opening of his speech he "joshed" the teachers unmercifully but ended up in a serious manner and thanked them profusely for their help and cooperation through four years of school life.

Miss Beverly Berman, the talented young pianist of the Class of '35, then played the well known selection from Liszt, "Liebestraum."

Miss Isabelle Byrne, Class Poet, rendered a charming recital of some of her own creations.

Frank Schilling, the Class Orator, was next to take the floor. Mr. Schilling compared life with a spade-ful of river bottom that a miner would dig up to pan. Those with grit and courage would remain. The others would be sifted through and would fall back in the stream.

Earl Banks then administered some advice to the Juniors. Mr. Banks is very small of stature but he "hit into" the juniors as Napoleon might have done. It was the chance he had been waiting for for a long time. The Class of 1935 was absolutely worthless, irresponsible and lackadaisical. He then presented them with the key of knowledge. In answer to this rapid fire was bombing, William Byrne, president of the junior class, inferred that the seniors hadn't exactly set the world on fire. However, in seriousness, he promised that the junior class would carry on.

In the closing speech of the evening Edward Meaden read the last will and testament of the Class of '35. After a flourishing introduction he fulfilled the legacy. To Frank Schilling, his brother orator, he left a box of cough drops. To Earl Banks, a banana, which he strove so mightily to procure during the senior play. To Miss Marcia Brown, an acorn, to which Mr. Meaden added that old adage, "Great oaks, from little acorns grow." To another Brown, this time Robert, a gas to keep him quiet. To Miss Dorothy Briggs, a yellow hair ribbon to control her unruly bangs. To Miss Dorothy Rietz, a toy train. To Miss Dorothy Rietz, a bottle of white shoe polish. To Miss Dorothy Winchell, a bouquet of roses with the assurance that they would never be able to match her beauty. A word of advice was left to David Pennington not to wear his suspenders too tight. To Kenneth Dittus, a package of chewing gum which should come in handy. And, finally, to the junior class was left a green lamp shade in order "to protect their pedagogues from their overwhelming brilliance."

This closed the last will and testament of the Class of 1935.

Modena, June 24.—Mr. and Mrs. Louis Hyatt are the parents of a young son, born Friday, June 21, at their home in Modena.

Mrs. Russell J. Wager and son, Harold, spent the week-end with relatives in Poughkeepsie.

Mrs. Flora Nabor of Plattkill was a caller in town Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Roosa and daughter, June, of Poughkeepsie, visited relatives here over the week-end.

Harry Denton of Kingston is spending some time in this village. Mrs. Matilda Trowbridge and John Trowbridge of New Paltz spent Saturday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Wager.

Miss Elsie Crowell and Miss Helen Ery of Kingston are spending this week with Mr. and Mrs. Myron Shultz at the Old Homestead Farm.

For the past four years, the New York State Conservation Department, through its Bureau of Game, has been stocking bobwhite quail in Ulster county. These liberations were made as an experiment to determine whether or not this species could be brought back to their former abundance in this region. During the past spring, Gardiner Bump, superintendent of the bureau, requested cooperating game clubs in Ulster county to gather information on these birds, prior to a survey made by state men later in the season. Reports have been made in this section of a number of quail seen, and the call of "bob-white" has been heard frequently.

Howard Hose has been entertaining a guest from Minnesota. Plans are nearing completion for the lawn party which the members of the Modena Home Bureau unit will hold on the lawn of the Matheson house, Thursday evening, June 27. A pleasant time is anticipated, and delicious refreshments will be served.

The next meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Modena Methodist Church, to be held at Mrs. Joseph Hasbrouck's home, has been postponed from the regular date of the current month, to a later date, owing to the date conflicting with the Fourth of July celebration.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Seymour were out-of-town visitors last week-end.

Miss Beatrice Ward visited relatives in Ardona last week.

Vernard B. Wager and grandson, Edmund F. Wager, Jr., of Plattkill, were callers on relatives in this village Sunday.

Miss Evelyn Bahr of New Jersey is staying at her home near Modena at this time.

Edward Rinehart of Poughkeepsie spent the week-end at his home, north of Modena village.

The barn dance which was held Saturday evening, June 22, in Morris Cohen's barn, for the benefit of the Modena Fire Department, was very successfully conducted, and appreciation is extended to those who in any way contributed to its success.

The Firemen will hold another barn dance at Cohen's barn Thursday evening, June 27.

The Rev. Peter C. Weyant, district superintendent, of Newburgh, conducted services in the Modena Methodist Church Sunday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Wager entertained company at their home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Roosa entertained company at their home Sunday.

Plans are underway for the annual Fourth of July celebration to be held in Modena. The usual games of sports, including baseball, will be in order, and a supper will be served in the Hasbrouck Memorial Hall.

commencing at 6 o'clock and continuing until all are served.

The tearing down of the old Methodist parsonage will commence Tuesday, and a new house built on the site of the old building. Theodore Ross and Floyd Wells will be the carpenters in charge.

3 Actions Grow Out Of Automobile Crash

Three actions growing out of an automobile accident in Kingston were taken up for trial before a jury in county court Monday afternoon.

Former Postmaster Edward L. Merritt and Mrs. Merritt bring an action against Henry L. Wiegert of Kingston to recover for injuries which Mrs. Merritt suffered on December 5, 1934, at the corner of Maiden Lane and Wall street when her Essex car was struck by a Packard sedan of defendant. In turn Mr. Wiegert brings an action against Mrs. Merritt to recover for damage to his car.

Mrs. Merritt alleges that she was badly bruised and that her nervous system was affected by the crash and that she was confined to her home for some time and suffered greatly thereafter. She also seeks damages for the breaking up of her car, which she testified was disposed of as junk following the accident. Mr. Merritt brings an action for loss of services.

From the testimony it appears Mrs. Merritt was driving north over Wall street to meet her husband at Wall and Main streets. As she approached the intersection she saw the Wiegert car approach some distance away. Believing she had ample opportunity to cross she proceeded.

As she was nearly across the intersection she alleges the Wiegert car struck the right rear wheel of her car and threw her car around to face south. It crashed into the curb and badly damaged the car. Mr. Wiegert was driving west over Maiden Lane. Following the accident she testified she suffered serious injuries and much pain. Wiegert she claims told her he would put a new wheel and fender on her car. This was also testified to by Officers Fitzgerald and Bowers who investigated the accident. Mrs. Merritt testified that Wiegert told her he did not see her car until he struck it.

Cleon B. Murray appears for plaintiffs Merritt and Joseph Avis appears for Mr. Wiegert.

Flying Brothers Near Endurance Record

Meridian, Miss., June 25 (AP)—With Al Key's toothache temporarily relieved, he and his brother, Fred, roared nearer a new world's endurance flying record today.

They passed their 294th hour in the air at 3:32 a. m. (eastern standard time) only 59 hours, 41 minutes and 30 seconds short of the record of 553 hours, 42 minutes and 30 seconds set in 1930 by John and Kenneth Hunter at Chicago.

The Keys went aloft in their plane, the Ole Miss, on June 4 and have flown a mileage almost equal to twice the distance around the world.

To break the record, they must remain in the air until 2:30 a. m. (central standard time) Thursday. The old mark will be equalled at 2:30:15 p. m., but they must stay up an hour longer before a new mark is officially recognized.

One of Al Key's teeth gave him trouble during the week-end but amateur dentistry prescribed over the radio by a dentist below, relieved him.

The brothers expressed confidence they would set a new mark. They said the motor of the plane was performing excellently and that they hoped to stay aloft until July 4, thus bettering also the unofficial record of 647 hours and 29 minutes made in 1937 by Dale Jackson and Forest O'Brien at St. Louis.

Sunday School Picnic
The First Reformed Sunday School will hold its annual picnic Thursday, June 27, at Golden Rule Inn. Cars will leave the church at 10 o'clock. A cordial invitation is extended to all departments of the Sunday School, including the Home Department, and to all members of the congregation.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS AND SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—In the language of the real estate man the name of a movie star has lot-sale potentialities almost equal to box-office pull in the movie houses.

Signs on various suburban developments, where perchance one or two or maybe more movie actors have purchased, proclaim proudly that "a new movie colony is coming here," and for the benefit of prospective buyers who might possibly be pleased at the thought of neighboring with a star, your alert ground-seller will readily point out the hallowed land whereon soon this star or that will begin a home.

Out in "the valley"—the San Fernando valley north of Hollywood to which quite a few of the stars have migrated—the agents will point with pride to the Al Jolson-Ruby Keeler estate now under construction. They will tell you that Jolson has just purchased an additional tract of land at a cost of $19,000, and right on the same street, somewhat further down, you yourself can buy a choice piece for such-and-such. To Jolson-Keeler fans, of course, the argument has a chance of being overwhelming.

The Big 'Boom'

Also to be pointed out is Edward Everett Horton's ranch home—which is really several homes, each of which is occupied by a different section of the actor's family. The wisdom of Horton in buying early for he was a "valley" pioneer—is not overlooked in the selling discourse as you ride along.

Then there's the place of Cecil B. DeMille, not a home but a large piece of property where the director keeps his horses—you must take a look at that. Over here, in this unpretentious little house, is where Jimmy Savo, the stage headliner, lives when he's in Hollywood. He has had the place quite a while. Joan Blondell, too, has been looking over sites recently. See that big house up on the hill? The one with the great trees around it? Well, Clark Gable offered $25,000 for that, but the price is $40,000.

Boom, boom, boom!!!

A Shakespeare Cycle

History is repeating itself on the "Shakespearean cycle" in pictures. In the silent pictures Theda Bara was the star of one "Romeo and Juliet" while Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne were engaged on another, with a resultant race to be first at the box-office. Now Metro takes the cycle, with Norma Shearer to play the heroine's role, and in England Alexandra Korda talks of a production there with Robert Donat as Romeo. Korda also plans a "Hamlet," which would mean a race with John Hay Whitney's Pioneer production of the classic in color.

On The Radio Day By Day

Time Is Eastern Daylight.

New York, June 25 (AP)—The wide implications of President Roosevelt's tax plan will be discussed by Senator Coolidge of Colorado, member of the senate finance committee, as a National Radio Forum feature Thursday night on WEA-FNB at 11:30.

H. V. Kaltenborn, who for 14 years has been "editing the news" via radio, will have to stay up quite late July 6—in fact, he won't get to bed until after 4 a. m., for he is scheduled to address us from London that night from 8:45 to 9 p. m., which is 3:45 to 4 a. m., London time. St. Joseph's School Held Graduation Exercises Sunday

On Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock the pupils of St. Joseph's Parochial School, eighth grade held their graduation exercises at the church, having attended the Holy Communion at the nine o'clock Mass, in a body. At that service the Young Men's Choir, which like the children's choir has been splendidly trained by Mrs. J. William Leary, sang the Mass, in honor of the occasion.

The church was rarely beautiful at the graduation service, with all of the exquisite new altar hangings, vases of delphinium and pink roses and arranged about the altar the baskets of flowers, gifts to the graduates.

Diplomas of graduation and class pins were awarded to Marion Carroll, Grace Cater, Rosalie Cater, John Coughlin, Marjorie Delaney, Elizabeth Erbe, Rita Ferraro, Joan Flynn, Madeline Freer, Margaret Galvin, Helen Haggerty, Anna Leary, Elaine McConnell, Kathleen Pfeiffer, Marjorie Rice, Elizabeth Smith and Dorothy Snow, the Rev. Louis M. Cusack, pastor of the church, presenting the diplomas and prizes which were awarded as follows:

Prize for general excellence, donated by The League of the Sacred Heart, to Rita Ferraro, average 98 per cent.

The prize for Christian Doctrine, donated by a friend, to Kathleen Pfeiffer, average 97.8 per cent.

The prize for English Composition and Grammar, donated by the Catholic Daughters of America (Court Santa Maria, No. 164) to Grace Cater, average 95.3 per cent.

The prize for United States History, donated by the Kingston Council, No. 275, Knights of Columbus, awarded to Elaine McConnell, average 97.3 per cent.

The prize for Arithmetic donated by Mrs. J. William Leary, awarded to Helen Haggerty, average 96.6 per cent.

Rita Ferraro is also the winner of the American Legion Prize for American History. This is the third consecutive year that a pupil from St. Joseph's Church has won an American Legion prize for American History. Four out of the six years that this prize has been awarded it has gone to a member of the St. Joseph's Parochial School.

The boys who received their diplomas of graduation and class pins were:

Donald Abernathy, Nicholas Amato, James Ashdown, Francis Bruno, John Cook, Louis Duffner, Mario Goffredi, John Henebery, Robert Kelder, and William Smith. The prize for the highest average attained by a boy, donated by Mr. and Mrs. William F. Abernathy, was awarded to James Ashdown, average 90.9 per cent.

The above mentioned girls and boys successfully passed the recent's examinations and satisfactorily completed the course of study as prescribed by the New York Catholic School Board.

In presenting the diplomas and prizes, Father Cusack congratulated the graduates for work well done, but even more than that for the privilege which had been afforded the young people of carrying on their studies in the atmosphere of Christian culture and refinement under the devoted Sisters. The lessons which they had learned from books they would make use of as they went on into life in practical ways, but the spiritual lessons which they had learned were far more valuable for by means of them they would, if they followed that teaching no matter how difficult they found it, grow into men and women of fine Christian character. Father Cusack said he knew they would ever remember their Alma Mater, and remembering, be a credit to it.

The music for the graduation exercises was provided by the boys and girls of the seventh grade who had been so trained by Mrs. Leary as to sing a service so well and so sincerely that it added greatly to the impressiveness of the occasion. The procession was headed by "Benediction," which was followed by "Benediction," and that by the chant, "Adoramus." They also sang the Latin hymn, "O Salutaris," and "Psalms Angelicus." After the singing of "Tantum Ergo," the children sang thrillingly as the recessional, "Praise Ye the Father," thus closing the graduating exercises.

Pupils who received 75 per cent or above: Billy Davis, Jane Davis, Philip Davis, Augustus Hall, Ruth Hall, Raymond Miller and William Upright.

Much credit is due the following pupils who did not miss a day of school: Ann Davis, George Green, Ruth Hall, Raymond Miller, Eva Upright.

THOMAS M. DAVITT WITH THE METROPOLITAN LIFE

Thomas M. Davitt, well known local athlete, who for a number of years was bookkeeper for the Thompson Packing Company, is now a representative of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company in this city.

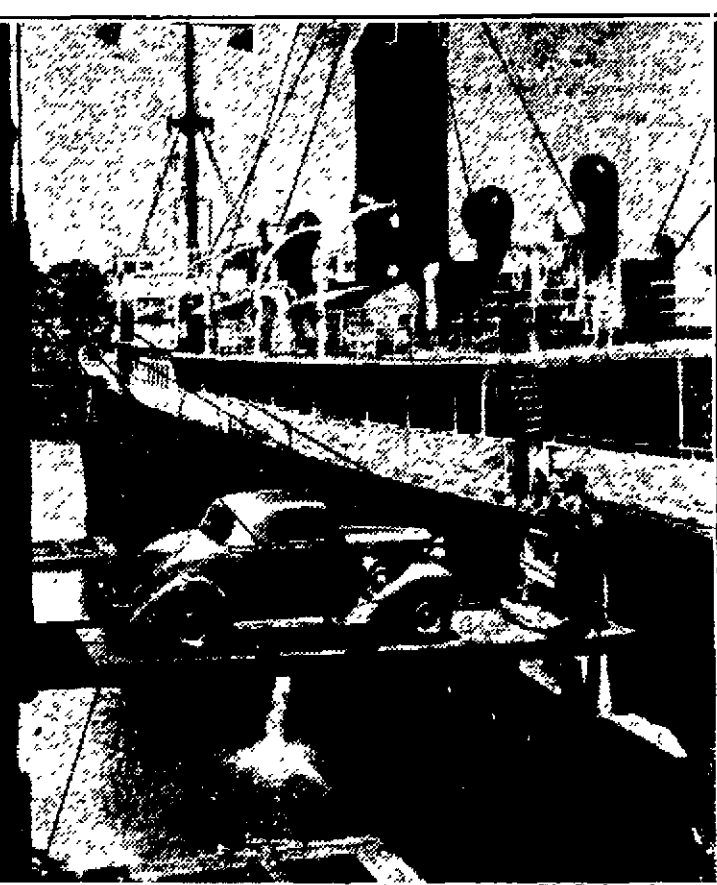

It doesn't take a wise man to give advice but it requires a wise man to know when to take advice.

CRIME SYNDICATE HIDEOUT RAIDED

"Floating Garages" Spur Foreign Travel

Going abroad on vacation with a motor car is now as easy as driving into the family garage. The Plymouth Convertible Coupe has just been driven onto one of the huge loading elevators and is riding down from the pier level to the side port through which it will pass to one of the three garage decks aboard the S. S. Ilestein in port at New York. The ship is one of three originally built to carry cars for export exclusively, now converted into passenger ships with "floating garage" facilities.

The World

Specially built, hand made racing cars swept the boards in the recent speed classic of the year at the Indianapolis Speedway. Every money winner was a "custom made" job. Not a car produced by a stock manufacturer was able to complete the 500 mile grind. The outstanding stock car performance of all time is still claimed by Studebaker and the records show it is justly claimed. In 1932 and in 1933, which was the last time Studebaker contested in the big event, cars entered by The Studebaker Corporation finished brilliantly. In 1933, seven of the first twelve money winners were Studebakers powered. In 1932, the leading Studebaker shattered all previous records for the race.

Automobiles rolling along over America's great super highways this summer will go further than they have ever gone before, according to John D. Collins, general sales manager of Tide Water Oil Company. "The chances are that more mileage was reached over all roads in the United States in 1934 than was ever covered in our automotive history," said Mr. Collins. "This in spite of the fact that 16,595,180,000 gallons of gasoline used in 1934 was not the record amount for all time. It was exceeded only once, however, in 1931, when 16,628,880,000 gallons were used for all purposes and when fuels were less efficient. The modern gasolines give a car far more mileage on a gallon than did those of 1931. This year I expect to see both mileage and gasoline consumption records broken."

Two Children Hurt By Cars on Monday

Two accidents in which children were injured, but not seriously, were reported to the police department on Monday afternoon. May R. Schaefer of Albany reported that while driving on Washington avenue near the viaduct that Martha Hazel Smith, 10, of 422 Washington avenue, ran from behind a parked car into her car, and was slightly injured about the head and leg.

Edward V. Barton of 13 O'Neil street reported that while driving on Delaware avenue that Gloria Russo, 14, of 670 Broadway, riding a bicycle turned from Hasbrouck avenue into Delaware avenue and ran into the front left bumper of his car. She escaped with slight injuries.

AGRICULTURE

Uncle Ab says that nobody ever follows a man who thinks he is a leader.

Since young turkeys grow faster than young chickens, their feeds should be higher in protein.

An acre of good clover or alfalfa pasture should supply enough grazing for about 24 pigs and save about $30 in feed bills.

To clean eggs, wash them with warm water and a cloth, but do not put the eggs in the water as they absorb it. Never scrape the eggs with a knife or other metal.

Back wheat honey from New York state that goes to wholesale markets averages more than 1,000,000 pounds each year, and beekeepers, in addition, retail nearly as much.

Although Umbria has but one "bloom," a single tiny flower may be yellow or pink at 2 o'clock in the morning, purple at 5 o'clock, and gray when it is bleached by rain or dew.

Every farmer can become his own blacksmith with the help of a new Cornell bulletin, E-323, on farm horseshoeing. For a free copy write to the New York state college of agriculture at Ithaca, N. Y.

Well, anyway, "sharing wealth" sounds better than sharing poverty.

Question of Road Being Public Is Involved in Action

The question of whether a certain highway in the town of Hardenbergh is public and should be maintained by the town superintendent of highways as a part of the town road system is involved in an action brought in supreme court by August Johnson. This action is an application of Mr. Johnson for a mandamus order directing that a highway be put in suitable condition for public travel and is directed to Charles M. Todd, town superintendent of the town of Hardenbergh and Emmett Barnhart.

It is decided that the road is a public highway. Mr. Johnson alleges in his complaint that he purchased a tract of land of about 100 acres in the town of Andes, Delaware county, and that he was able to reach this land only by what he supposed to be a public highway leading from the main highway in the town of Hardenbergh near the Touse place across the lands of Touse, August Diezer, Emmet Barnhart and others to his lands. He claims that this route was laid out in 1844 as a public route through Ulster county and connecting with a road in Delaware county but that the town superintendent has ceased to keep the road in repair and as a result it has become dangerous to travel. He alleges that there was never a record of abandonment by the town filed in the town clerk's office in Hardenbergh as required. The route he alleges is a public one and one which not only serves his place but also the Walter Cabot place and that it should be maintained by the town.

Emmet Barnhart denies the allegations and contends that the road is not a public one and that gates have been maintained on the route for years. A. J. Cook appeared for Barnhart.

Mayor to Address Labor Meeting

Mayor Heiselman will be the first speaker at the mass meeting to be conducted at the Municipal Auditorium Thursday night when various bills now before congress will be explained. It was stated last night. The mayor's topic has not yet been definitely decided upon, but in addition to making a talk on the bills themselves he will probably welcome the other speakers. The committee in charge stated last night a prominent speaker from the American Federation of Labor will be here for the occasion.

The meeting is sponsored by the Central Trades and Labor Council and is open to the general public. Among the bills to be taken up will be the Social Security Act and the Wagner Labor Disputes measure. The speakers will explain various points of these bills and others now pending in congress.

Refreshments will be on sale at the meeting.

Imitation paper is being manufactured in Japan. That ought to be a good kind on which to print inflated currency.

Ethiopia Rejects New Italian Note Today

Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, June 25 (AP).—The Ethiopian government in a note to Italy rejected today as "non pertinent" Italian charges that Ethiopia was making the sultanate of Jimma another province of the empire. The note was dispatched in reply to Italian representations, made June 23, in which the Italian government "took cognizance" of steps the Ethiopian government was taking to make Jimma another province under its direct administration.

Italy insisted she had rights in Jimma, as a consequence of treaties concluded directly with Sultan Abba Jiffar, and expressed "formal reserves" concerning the new situation. The Ethiopian empire replied that Jimma has always been an integral part of the empire, administered under authority of the central government like other provinces.

The Ethiopian note called the Italian reservations "objectless and non-pertinent."

It asserted that Italian interests in this and other provinces were governed exclusively by Italo-Ethiopian treaties. "Application of which have constantly been and will be assured by Abyssinia."

Affirms Judgment Of the Lower Court

County Judge Frederick G. Traver has affirmed the judgement of justice's court in the matter of Rose Popelyas, respondent, against Eda P. Woodward, appellant. This was an appeal to county court from a judgement of Justice of the Peace Irving C. Barnes of the town of New Paltz and dates back to November, 1934, when judgement was entered for plaintiff Rose Popelyas, against Eda P. Woodward in the sum of $85.45.

Judge Traver affirms the judgement of the lower court and $25 costs of appeal to the respondent. Peter H. Harp appeared for respondent and Louis C. Braun for appellant.

Writes Of Trip Around The World

Miss Edith Schryver, daughter of George J. Schryver of 188 North Manor avenue, writes that she arrived at her home in Salem, Oregon, Thursday, June 20, after a seven-months' trip around the world. Miss Schryver and Miss Lord, her associate in business, (both Miss Lord and Miss Schryver are landscape architects) left San Francisco on November 2 on the steamship President Hoover for Manila, Philippine Islands, where they were guests of Miss Lord's brother for several months.

En route to Manila they stopped at Honolulu where they were entertained by relatives of Miss Lord. At Shanghai they had their only real sight of China, when they spent a day sight-seeing. The next stop was at Hongkong with its beautiful harbors.

Christmas is celebrated in the Philippines in much the same way as in the United States, although the weather is warm. Miss Schryver and Miss Lord attended a party given in honor of the British consul and his wife who were making a tour of the islands. They visited many interesting and picturesque islands that were owned by the Philippines, were up in the mountain region and saw the huge lumber mills. On the plains they saw thousands of acres of sugar cane growing pale and green, a lovely sight in the sunlight, saw the cane ground up, made into syrup and finally crystallized into raw sugar.

Many of the towns on the islands are very old and full of Spanish history.

Miss Lord and Miss Schryver attended a reception during the holidays given by the governor general in honor of the members of the United States. On leaving Manila they were accompanied by Miss Lord's brother, Montague Lord, who also made the trip and came to Salem, Oregon, for the summer. Mr. Lord's trip was partly business as well as pleasure as he was a representative of the Hawaiian Sugar Association of Manila, Philippine Islands.

Before sailing for Africa they had to get police records saying they had not been in jail for the last five years, and had to have new passport pictures taken.

The two weeks trip from Manila to Java was a delightful one on a little Dutch boat. They spent two and a half days sight-seeing in Java, took an airplane flight to the end of the islands, also visited famous ruins. They had a wonderful trip across Indo-China, Siam, and Cambodia. When their steamer landed at Portogara, South Africa, they found cold weather as it was fall in that hemisphere. After spending a day in Johannesburg, they came across to Cape Town where they spent most of their time and were very much impressed with the city.

They sailed on the White Star liner Franconia from Cape Town to Buenos Aires, South America. Buenos Aires is a very handsome city with lavish buildings and grand boulevards. Their visit there was especially interesting to Miss Elizabeth Lord, since she attended school in Flores while her father, the late W. P. Lord, was United States minister to the Argentine Republic during the presidency of General McKinley. Miss Lord renewed some of her girlhood acquaintances and saw the house she had lived in at that time and which was then used as the American embassy.

Their most thrilling experience came when they flew over the Andes Mountains. They had a huge Douglas plane, soundproof, which flew 14,000 feet high for 150 miles across the mountains, and in crossing the boundary between Argentina and Chile, they could look down and see the statue of Christ placed at the very summit of the Andes in hope of perpetuating peace between the two countries. They also had thrills when the flew across the equator and flew right over the Panama Canal and the locks. They spent one night at Cristobal where the weather was very hot. From there they went to Guatemala City for a few days and were charmed with the lovely scenery and nice climate of the city. When they arrived in Mexico City, they were all affected by the altitude which is over 7,500 feet high, and which made them feel very tired at first. Mexico City has many picturesque ruins and is a very old city.

They left Mexico City on the morning of June 15 by airplane for Los Angeles and made the 1,600 miles in one day, a trip which is said to be the fastest of its length in the world. After spending the week-end in Los Angeles, they left for San Francisco where they stopped a few days before returning to Salem to replenish their wardrobes, as one cannot take much baggage when traveling by plane. So after a marvelous trip by steamer and airplane they completed their circle around the world.

British Isles Possess

Most Temperate Climate

The Bahama Islands, lying a few hundred miles southeast of the coast of Florida, were settled by Loyalists from the United States after the American Revolution, says a writer in the Montreal Herald. The islands have the most temperate climate in the world and the crop season extends throughout the whole year.

The land was at first divided into large plantations selling slave labor, after the fashion of the southern states. Cotton and tropical fruits were the great export crops while corn and live stock were produced for local needs. Cotton was abandoned after a few years since it rapidly exhausted the thin soil and with the abolition of slavery the land was gradually broken up into small holdings, cultivated by both white and colored farmers.

The big limiting factor in the agriculture of these islands is the peculiar nature of the soil. Generally speaking it is not more than a few inches deep, with coral and other rock outcroppings frequent.

50,000 Fans May See Louis Fight Carnera Tonight

By ALAN GOULD.
Associated Press Sports Editor.
New York, June 25 (AP)—No matter what happens tonight when Joe Louis, "Brown Bomber" from Detroit, trains his short-range punching fire on Primo Carnera at the Yankee Stadium, their box office appeal assures one of the biggest financial successes since pugilism took the country from old man depression.

Favorable weather reports, coupled with extraordinary interest aroused throughout the country by the most important mixed match in more than a decade of heavyweight activity, boomed the ticket sales.

There was little chance of a sell-out for a park that can accommodate close to 80,000, but it appeared certain more than 50,000 cash customers would contribute nearly $400,000 to see just how long it will take the youthful negro, Louis, to bring down the 265-pound Italian giant.
Such a turnout would dwarf the relatively small crowd, less than 20,000, which saw James J. Braddock take the heavyweight title from Max Baer two weeks ago. It would set a new "high" for a non-championship match since Jack Dempsey flattened Jack Sharkey in the same arena in 1927.

The odds appeared likely to be at least 2 to 1 in favor of Louis when the clans gathered at the ringside. There was little Carnera money in sight. Broadway shared the general belief of fight experts and followers at large that the huge Italian is made to order for the deadly-punching negro.

Reports that Carnera would scale close to 265, considerably over his best fighting weight, did not lend any encouragement to his followers. Despite his advantages in size, reach and experience, Primo's chances of avoiding Louis' knockout punch were not considered bright.

The belief in well-informed fight circles was that Carnera, still shell-shocked from the terrific beating he took from Max Baer last summer, would be lucky to last a half dozen rounds.

His one big chance seemed to be that he might share the current luck of the long-shots.

He lacks only two things in a physical makeup that otherwise make him the most formidable fighting specimen of his time. Those two things happen to be a punch and a durable chin.

Racial rivalry and the fact that the fight occurs at a time when the governments of Italy and Ethiopia are in a dispute has prompted promoters and police to cooperate in taking unusual precautions against the possibility of an outbreak among spectators.

Authorities minimized the prospect of any disturbance, but more than 1,000 uniformed men were due for assignment to the stadium.

Both principals were kept under continual guard as a result of unsubstantiated rumors that attempts would be made to "approach" one camp or the other.

The fighters were expected to report to the commission to weigh in not later than noon eastern standard time. The preliminaries start at 7 p. m. and the main bout is slated for not later than 9 p. m. There will be no broadcast.

The Family Team Wins
Castorland, N. Y., June 25 (AP)—This tiny Adirondack village's one-family ride team once more has brought home the bacon. The "bacon" in the latest instance is the individual New York state ride championship and a second place in the team event—won by the three Woolchiger brothers and Mrs. John Woolchiger and another villager, Stuart Buxton.

Irish Heavyweight Takes First Fight In U.S. by Defeating Donato

New York, June 25 (AP)—Jack Doyle, towering, curly-haired wall-to-wall of Ireland, made a successful American debut last night when he knocked out Phil Donato of Brooklyn in the first round of a 10-round bout.

Doyle, weighing 212½ and standing 6 feet 4½ inches in height, waded into his opponent at the bell, shouting lefts and rights to head and body. Donato went to the floor for a count of nine, stumbled to his feet to be met by another barrage and then slumped down for the final

Columbia Giants And Kaslich A. C. In 7-7 Tie Game Monday

Last evening at the Fair Grounds the Columbia Giants shoved over two runs in the last half of the last frame to tie up the score at 7 all with the Kaslich A. C. nine.

The A. C. boys were leading 7-5 after a four run rally in the first of the seventh but could not hold their lead. Dillworth was on the mound for the Giants and was nipped for nine hits. Pucker Davis did the tossing for the Kaslich team and was touched for eight. Tiano and Davis got two hits each for the A. C. while Winston led the Giants with two.

In the seventh, Minasian and Tiano walked. Steigerwald and Chambers doubled and Gadd hit safely, giving the A. C. four runs. Perry and Penna of the Giants hit and Winston's double tied up the count.

STANDINGS

Vito Tamulis, unobtrusive fellow who has rocketed to the fore of the Yankees high-powered pitching staff, has tamed the Indians again.
He has a peculiar ability to throw balls where there are no Cleveland tomahawks, and yesterday he hung his third Cleveland scalp to his belt and ran his season record to seven wins with only one defeat. The Indians got but one run, while the Yankees, stretching their lead in the American League to four games, got four.

In the ninth inning he found himself in difficulty after a scratch hit and a clean single. The count reached three and two on Winegarner, and then Tamulis began tossing those strikes that are so hard to reach.
Winegarner hit several fouls before he whiffed completely on a fast, dipping ball. Tamulis limited the Indians to eight hits, three of which bounced from the bat of Joe Vosmik. Earl Whitehill, former Detroit pitcher now with Washington, lost 9 to 8 to his old teammates after pitching 14 innings at Detroit. With two men aboard, Auker, who had been sent in as a relief pitcher for Bridges, lifted a high fly that permitted White to score from third.

A tenth inning double off the bat of Burnett enabled the St. Louis Browns to defeat Philadelphia, 2-1. Zeke Bonura's homer with two on was instrumental in the defeat of Boston by the Chicago White Sox, 6-4, in other American League games.

In the National League, the Chicago Cubs were forced to go ten innings to subdue the league-leading New York Giants 10-9. It was a batsman's holiday, with a total of 30 hits ringing off the bludgeons.

Paul Dean did not last long enough to retire a batter in the first inning of the Cards-Brooklyn game but St. Louis came from behind to win another free-slugging contest, 12-7. Jimmy Collins of the Cards continued his home run spree, collecting his sixth homer in five days and his 16th of the season.
6-4 for their third straight triumph, the Reds facing four Phillies hurlers for 17 hits and driving Curt Davis from the box in the sixth with a two run rally that clinched the game.

New York—Jack Doyle, 212½, Ireland, knocked out Phil Donato, 190, Brooklyn, (1); Steve Halaiko, 138½, Buffalo, N. Y., outpointed Bobby Pachio, 139, New Mexico, (10).

N. R. S. C. Meet The Formosts In A City League Tilt Tonight

After a layoff of over a week, due to the rain, the City Baseball League will get back into action at the Athletic Field this evening when Forats Formosts meet the North Rondout Social Club. The Rondouts are in second place in the standing of the clubs and a win will strengthen their position. The Packers need the game to stay in the race. A loss will almost eliminate them.

Julius Chick or Joe Boots can be called on to do the pitching for the Rondouts. "Moose" Tiano will do the receiving.

Jimmy Martin, who made his debut for the Packers in their last contest and won it for them, will do the hurling. Bill Messing will do the catching.

Woodstock Loses To Diers on Sunday

Sunday afternoon the Diers A. S. playing at Woodstock defeated the Woodstock team, 10 to 3. F. Embree was on the mound for the Diers and although touched for 11 hits was very effective in the pinches and that coupled with the stellar playing of his teammates held the Woodstockers on the bags throughout the game. Collins turned in a creditable performance behind the plate for the A. S. Colvin, Ortale, Collins and Uhl of the Diers were credited with two base hits, while Lynch of Woodstock got hold of a three-bagger.

The A. S. garnered 15 hits off the offerings of Wilbur and Plumley who did the pitching for Woodstock.

The Diers lineup was as follows: Rhinobard, 3b; Collins, c; Colvin, 2b; F. Embree, p; Uhl, cf; E. Embree, rf; S. Letus, ss; J. Wenzel, 1b; W. Letus and Ortale, lf.
For Woodstock: Harder, cf; Riverburg, 3b; Lynch, 1b; Ludins, lf; Plumley, c; Jensen, ss; Wilbur, p; Peper, rf; Holmzie, 2b.

The game in Kingston will be one of the features of the annual convention of the State Patrolmen's Association to be held here that week.

Kingston won the last game played with the Newburgh police and expect to maintain their leadership. Officer Fred Stout, who twirled for Kingston, is getting in shape for the big game by playing with the Wilbur Dodgers.

Chief of Police J. Allan Wood is general manager and chairman of the ticket committee for the big game here.

Comforters Defeat The Lutherans by 19-4

The Church of the Comforter softball team won its third league victory last night by defeating the Trinity-Lutheran representatives, 19-4. With Andy Dykes leading the way with two home runs, one with the bases loaded, and Chirp Rhymer also clouting a four bagger, the Comforters slugged Baxter and Paulus, Lutheran pitchers, for a barrage of hits that settled any question of who would win the game as early as the second inning. Cornells Defeat Rapid Hose By 8-5

Monday evening at Block Park, the Cornell Hose soft ballers took over the Rapid Hose team to the tune of 8-5. Al Vogel, the new manager, piloted his team to the victory, but the former manager, "Deppy" Martin, was on hand to root for his brother members.

Featuring the game were home runs by Zeck and Krum and as usual Adin's Dairy truck was on hand with the buttermilk. Anyone to clout out a home run received a quart of buttermilk.

The rooters of both companies were heard for blocks away when the teams were tied at 4 all. Cornell went to bat in the 7th inning and collected 4 runs and held their lead.

Manager Vogel is so pleased that his team won from the Rapids that he has booked them for a game tonight at Block Park. "Butch" Wolf will be on the mound for Cornell tonight. From all indications there will be a still larger crowd on hand as each team has one victory to their credit. The game tonight is scheduled for 7 o'clock.

Friday night the Comforters will play Trinity M. F. Church at the School No. 5 diamond.

Tennis Club to Play At Newburgh Sunday

Sunday afternoon the Kingston Tennis Team will journey down to Newburgh to play the Powelton Club. This will be the sixth match of the season for the local netmen. The team will be at full strength with the exception of Stan Hancock, ranking number two player, who will be unable to make the trip. Kingston's ace and city champion, Randall Rose, will play the first position. The rest of the lineup will include Bob Hersog, Jansen Fowler, Ed Strong, John Burgevin, Bob Hancock and Hank Osterhout.

Last week the locals suffered the first defeat of the season at the hands of the Monroe club, members of which will appear here on August 4 for a return match. Other matches on the schedule include Albany, Schenectady, Poughkeepsie and West Point. The Poughkeepsie match will be a return engagement, the locals having already defeated the Bridge City boys on their own courts.

Kingston Chervies Win

The Kingston Chervies overwhelmed the Poughkeepsie Rialtos, 27-9, at Eastman Park before a Sun-morning crowd of approximately 500. Grabbing an early lead the Chervies widely outplayed their highly-touted opponents throughout.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By CLAUDE E. JAGGER

New York, June 25 (AP)—The stock market found a back-tracking excuse today and leading issues reversed their recent trend.

The retreat was orderly, however, and, after a sharp selling flurry in the first hour, prices leveled off and trading turned quiet. The sagging movement was attributed partly to overnight news that the President would insist upon enactment of his distribution-of-wealth tax program at the present session of Congress. Technical influences also were seen as a contributing cause.

Share losses ranged from fractions to 2 or more points, but they were exceptions. Ludlum Steel, American Tobacco "B", Midland Steel Products, National Cash Register, Celanese, Allied Chemical and Radio Preferred "B" were among those able to record gains. Most of the rails and utilities were about unchanged to slightly lower.

Principal declines were registered by International Business Machines, Air Reduction, American Can, Continental Can, du Pont, U. S. Smelting, Cerro de Pasco, American Telephone and Public Service of New Jersey. Such stocks as U. S. Steel, General Motors, General Electric, Consolidated Gas, North American Union Pacific and Standard Oil of New Jersey were easy.

Size of Army Uncertain—The size of the army of Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia remained a mystery today, as far as the League of Nations was concerned. Ethiopians refused to furnish the information for the armaments yearbook. It was learned, on the grounds that the emperor has organized an army, but merely under the name of auxiliary troops.

PLAN TO RESTORE OLD COOLIDGE HOME

May Be Preserved as Historical Monument.

New York.—Mrs. Calvin Coolidge reveals a plan to restore the old Coolidge birthplace in Plymouth, Vt., where Calvin Coolidge became President by her own light for preservation as an historical monument. His widow states in the June Good Housekeeping, that John G. Sargent, attorney general under Coolidge, heads a committee now proceeding with the project.

"There could be no more fitting memorial to our thirtieth President," Mrs. Coolidge says, "nor one which would be more in keeping with his natural taste. Undoubtedly he gave some consideration to the matter himself and for that reason made extensive repairs. In building the six-room addition to his father's house, he was particular that no change should be made in the original structure."

Coolidge's only monument today is a simple five-foot granite stone in the Plymouth cemetery, similar to that of his son, Calvin, Jr., but Plymouth Notch itself, with its country store, church, Coolidge homestead and cheese factory is so identified with Coolidge that it attracts tourists in increasing numbers.

"While Father Coolidge was alive he welcomed visitors to his home," Mrs. Coolidge relates, "invited them into the sitting room, and posed for innumerable pictures. Since his death the housekeeper has continued to admit callers as generally as her time and strength have permitted. Women in the vicinity have brought pieces of their handwork for sale. I think that Mr. Coolidge refrained from placing a ban upon this because he realized how much it meant to these people in an out-of-the-way community to realize a little pin money."

The Coolidge correspondence, written with proverbial Coolidge caution, is already filed in the Library of Congress. Charles A. Andrews, treasurer of Amherst college, in the same issue of the magazine says Coolidge once said to him:

"They will not find any 'Dear Maria' letters among my papers. I did not have any private or semi-private correspondence. I brought nothing home with me."

A typical non-committal Coolidge letter is quoted: "My dear Mr. Field: Thank you for your letter of the twenty-first instant. I shall certainly have your views in mind when I come to act upon this matter. Calvin Coolidge."

Mr. Andrews also recalls this prophetic statement Coolidge made four days before his death:

"I am too old for my years. I suppose the carrying of responsibility as I have done takes its toll. I'm afraid I'm all burned out."

Cattle Brand by Shaw for Texan's Collection

Plataview, Texas.—Two years of patience have been rewarded and Marion Peters, Plataview's collector of cattle brands, is in possession of a brand drawn by George Bernard Shaw, stormy English author.

Peters' first request met with a reply that branding was cruel. Then how would Mr. Shaw do it? "Paint it on, you idiot. You can put your name on your handkerchief without using a red-hot poker can't you?"

Finally Shaw capitulated and drew the brand. Further, he even drew a cow for the brand.

Peters' collection now contains brands drawn by President Roosevelt, Will Rogers and Postmaster General James Farley.

Poison Gas Now Is Used to Save Old Churches

Vienne.—Poison gas for preservation purposes is being used in Austria, especially on old wooden churches and church furniture.

The first such "gassing" was applied to the Kernermarkt church in upper Austria, with such success that the church at Mauer, near Loosdorf in lower Austria, is being given the same treatment.

Each gassing costs approximately $2,000. Its purpose is to eliminate destructive wood insects which cannot be destroyed by any other known method.

Mouse Broadcasts Howls; Police Operator Frots

Gender Is Constant Companion of Man

Royalton, Wis.—A scold gender of doubtful ancestry, believed to be old enough to vote, is the unusual pet and constant companion of Charles Frey, retired farmer and former village president of Royalton. Frey's gender embodies all the characteristics of a dog. He would sit at his master's heels all about the barnyard, come country duty in front of the house, berate the approach of intruders with shrill barking and howling, and display dog-like devotion.

Spanish Moss Harmless; Plant Is Not Parasitic

Spanish moss, which is so common throughout the far South, is technically not a moss but a bromeliad of a member of the pineapple family, says the United States forest service. It is known botanically as Tillandsia usneoides and has many popular names such as Florida moss, New Orleans moss, tree-fern, and vegetable wool.

Spanish moss is commonly used for stuffing for mattresses, horse collars, automobile upholstery, and packing material. Seeds of bromeliads are produced in enormous numbers and are scattered far and wide by the wind, for the seeds have attachments for floating in the air, similar to those of milkweeds and dandelions.

Spanish moss is found principally growing on cypress and the broad-leaved trees. However, on wet sites, it occurs on several species of pine and cedar. Spanish moss, being a green plant, is not parasitic as commonly believed and, as far as is known, is harmless to its host tree. It belongs to the group of plants known as "epiphytes," meaning those which grow on the surface and depend upon their hosts for support but not for food. This explains why Spanish moss often grows on telegraph wire and wire fences.

Hornless Cattle Helped British Isles to Fame

Of the three breeds of hornless cattle for which the British Isles are famous, the Galloway, the Red Poll, and the Aberdeen-Angus, the latter are by far the most numerous. They have spread to the far corners of the earth and their peculiar blackness of form and easy-fattening propensities have made them the outstanding beef breed of today. Scientists sometimes dispute as to whether the first ancestors of modern domesticated cattle were horned or hornless.

Historically cattle with distinct and dominant hornless characteristics were being bred true in parts of the counties of Aberdeen and in adjacent sections of Angus before 1800. In those days, says an authority in the Montreal Herald, the Aberdeen cattle were called "humies" and the Angus stock "hadders"; some were red and some were brindle but black predominated.

The first pure-bred herd of Aberdeen-Angus cattle in North America was founded at Guelph in the summer of 1876 when two heifers and a bull were imported to what is now the Ontario Agricultural college.

Origin of London
The few facts available indicate that London first rose out of obscurity early after the Roman occupation of Britain, in the first century of the Christian era. Its geographical position was the determining factor. A British opinion, or stronghold, of the Conquerors that became Roman Verulam and is today St. Albans was sheltered behind the Mithras forum when Julius Caesar, having landed in Kent in 54 B. C., made his raid. Upon that he marched, crossing the Thames at some point that remains uncertain. Caesar makes no mention of London. The inference being that it did not exist. In A. D. 60 Constantine or Cymbeline succeeded to the throne of the confederated tribes in southern Britain. Early he transferred his seat of government to what became Roman Londinium (London). London's site was well placed for the service of both cities. Its emergence was due to its service as a landing stage for Continental trade with Britain. Tacitus refers to it as having been in A. D. 61 a place thus frequented by merchants. The name London is not Roman but Celtic, and the Romans adopted it in their own Londonium.

No Postcards
Philadelphia, June 25 (AP)—The first stream-lined train in the Philadelphia area is without postcards. It streamed into and out of the city last night on its way from Washington to New York, stopping briefly for ceremonies and long enough for the standard Quaker City residents to see the "streamlined engine." The "stream" of metal sheeting which covers the driving wheels or most streamlined trains were omitted from the Baltimore and Ohio's "Royal Blue" crack express on the orders of Daniel W. Ward, president of the line. "No engine with postcards run on my line," Ward, 54 years a railroadman, is reported to have said.

Quicksilver or Mercury

Quicksilver, or mercury, is derived from an ore that is a mixture of sulphur and mercury, called "cinabar," and when very pure is a brilliant vermilion. It was from this source that vermilion used to be obtained. Nowadays, however, it is usually made by heating mercury together with sulphur, potash and water.

Mercury is called "quicksilver" because it seems as if alive, so lively is the way in which it runs about. It is a fluid—that is to say, molten—at temperatures which render other metals solid. Some tribes of California Indians have used cinabar for red paint since prehistoric times, frescoing their faces and bodies with it. To get the quicksilver from the ore it is necessary merely to separate it from the sulphur with which it is chemically combined, and this is accomplished by roasting. The ore goes from the crush or into a furnace, where high heat volatilizes the quicksilver, the latter being thereupon precipitated pure in a water-jacketed condenser. Out of the condenser it runs in a silvery stream and is put up in wrought-iron flasks for market. The metal has a strong affinity for gold, and is used in connection with gold mining.—Tit-Bits Magazine.

Rome, June 25.—Great Britain's pollster for League of Nations Affairs, Capt. Anthony Eden, made a preliminary survey of the Ethiopian question with Fulvio Savica, Italian under-secretary for foreign affairs, this morning preparatory to a meeting with Premier Mussolini which may be one of the most important encounters of the year. The British diplomat and Savich drove to Castel Fusanò on the coast for luncheon. Although the idea of a formal conversation on foreign affairs in Rome was abandoned, the two statesmen managed to cover many subjects during the 45-minute drive and later, at the table.

Suit Against U. S.
Concord, N. H., June 25 (AP)—The Amosook Manufacturing Company, of Manchester, largest single cotton textile unit of its kind, today brought suit in federal court against the government for $2,500,000, charging the cotton-processing and spinners were unconstitutional. The suit, brought against Peter H. Case, of Portsmouth, as collector of internal revenue for New Hampshire, claimed $2,170,622 was paid to the government from August, 1933, to March, 1935. The Amosook Company contended in its suit the first of its kind brought in the United States district court in New Hampshire, that the taxes were unlawfully assessed and unlawfully collected.

The GOP, with Eaton pointing the way, has concentrated on winning back control of the state assembly as the first step toward rehabilitating the party. Last fall the Democrats ousted the GOP from control of the assembly for the first time in 22 years but Eaton and other party lead-

In the event of failure, observers say, there is bound to be recurrence of agitation for a new leader. During the 1935 session of the legislature a move was started by a group of young Republicans in the assembly

This followed reports that Eaton, then in California, planned to withdraw at the end of the session. Though the move failed to gain momentum and Eaton changed his mind about retiring, it was said the young group still favors Hanley and will

On the surface at the present time, all is harmony within the GOP ranks and even the small group which still stands by Macy in his attack against "old guardism" has been silent on all estate and national issues.

Eaton plans to renew his vigorous "win the assembly" campaign about the middle of July. He has visited thus far, nearly a score of counties and reports optimistically on prospects for a fall GOP victory.

Cummings Makes Bucketshop Plea

Washington, June 25 (AP).—Declaring that a nation-wide ring of chain bucketshop swindlers is molesting the public of "millions," Attorney General Cummings made a plea today for public cooperation to wipe out the "racketeers."

Evidence collected by the justice department, Cummings said in an interview with The Associated Press, points to bucketshop headquarters in New York and Chicago.

"We know the names of the leaders," he said, "but it will take cooperation of both the public and legitimate brokers to put them where they belong—behind the bars of a federal prison."

"With unquestioned superior ability as salesmen, with thousands of dollars to spend on elaborate offices, long distance telephone calls and telegrams, and an indirect system of payoff, the swindlers offer one of the most serious menaces to law enforcement in the country today."

Most of the victims, Cummings said, are doctors, lawyers, professors and businessmen.

"Actually," he said, "these men are convinced they have lost their money in a legitimate investment.
Usually they are afraid to complain to federal officers because these smooth racketeers always have the victim in debt after they have cleaned them."

Cummings said his agents had evidence that as many as 150 of these gangs were operating in New York city alone.

Valpaur Enters Plea Of Not Guilty; Three Sentenced For Arson

Edward Valpaur, who resides on the Plank road, was arraigned in county court Monday afternoon on a charge of abortion alleged to have been committed on March 4, 1935.

He entered a plea of not guilty and stated that he would procure counsel and defend his case. District Attorney Murray asked that he be notified by Wednesday as to who counsel would be. Mr. Valpaur, who is known to many people as Dr. Valpaur, has been in difficulty on two prior occasions with the law involving the charge of practicing medicine without a license. He was indicted several years ago on that charge and later served time in jail on the charge.

Three defendants charged with arson were permitted to enter pleas of guilty and two were sentenced to prison on their plea. Esther A.
Olmstead was sentenced to Bedford prison for women, also known as Westfield Farms, for a term of nine months to 18 months on her plea of guilty to arson, third degree. Her brother, Sumner Olmstead, received a sentence in Clinton State Prison of 1½ to 3 years at hard labor on his plea of guilty to the same crime.

Miss Olmstead is 23 years old and Sumner Olmstead 49. Delancey O'Banks, who was jointly indicted with the Olmsteads, also pleaded guilty to arson, third degree, and Judge Traver said he would delay imposition of sentence until July 1 at 2 o'clock. The trio were charged with having set fire to the Olmstead place in Shandaken, upon which there was insurance. Judge Joseph M. Fowler appeared as counsel for Miss Olmstead and made a plea for leniency. A. J. Cook appeared for O'Banks and Mr. Spennburgh appeared for Sumner Olmstead.

Mac Cauley Pleads.
In the matter of Herbert Mac Cauley, charged with violation of Section 480, failure to support minor children, District Attorney Cleon B.
Murray moved trial of the indictment and defendant changed a former plea of not guilty to that of guilty as charged. He has been in jail for some time. Mr. Murray stated that the idea of the court in these non-support cases was to compel the defendant to support his family and he suggested that the court postpone imposition of sentence until an investigation could be made to see whether Mac Cauley could not get a job and then pay his family money. This he could not do if confined to jail, and he called attention of the court to the fact that Mac Cauley had twice been convicted of the same offense, once previously in Ulster county and once in another county. Judge Traver asked for the record of these convictions and postponed until July 1 at 2 o'clock imposition of sentence.

John Raichle of Kingston charged with having enticed a young girl to Forsyth Park for criminal purposes will be committed to Napanoch institution for Male Defective Delinquents. Raichle was arrested after the child frightened, ran home and the police were called. District Attorney Cleon B. Murray informed the court that in accordance with the suggestion of the court he had caused Raichle to be examined by two competent doctors and on their recommendation Raichle would be sent to Napanoch. The proper papers he said would be submitted to the court for signature.

William Stewart had his case adjournd until Tuesday at 2 o'clock as his counsel, Roger H. Loughran, who was assigned by Justice Schrick, had not consulted with his client.
Stewart is charged with forgery.

Peter Sectona likewise had his case postponed as Mr. Ewig, who was assigned, was out of town. This case was set down for Tuesday, at 2 o'clock. The charge is attempted burglary.

William Styles, a burglary charge, went over the term due to the illness of Frank W. Brooks, counsel for defendant. This case will be disposed of in September.

Fuller Case Postponed
In the case of Walter Fuller, charged with a burglary at the Sauteries High School, trial was postponed until September due to Mr.
Brooks' illness. The district attorney asked that bail be increased in the case. This matter he explained had been put over from the last term to the June term. At that time the bondsmen had asked to be relieved on the grounds the defendant might not be available in June but the bond however was continued with the understanding that if the case was not tried in June the bail would be increased. Bail had been $5,000.
Judge Traver increased bail to $8, 000 effective July 1 at 2 o'clock at which time the present bondsmen will have to produce defendant in court and a new bond in the increased amount be given.

Mr. Murray stated that additional criminal matters would be taken up
Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

District Attorney Murray moved for the dismissal of an indictment against Morris Newgold, a charge of failure to provide workmen's compensation. He explained that the attorney general asked that the indiction be dismissed since the defendant had paid the judgment from compensation court. Granted.

An indictment against Ralph Markle, charged with a violation of Section 480, failure to provide for minor children, was also dismissed on request of the complaining witness. Written requests were filed with the court.
